POWER PROGRAM OF WPA UPHELD IN COURT TODAY

Ruling of District of Columbia Court to Be Carried Up

Washington, June 5.—(AP)—Chief Justice Alfred A. Wheat of the District of Columbia Supreme Court today upheld the constitutionality of the public works administration's $200,000,000 power program in dismissing an injunction suit against ten municipal electric projects in four states.

Wheat ruled on three major legal questions in his lengthy opinion.

He held that the plaintiffs, the Alabama Power Company, the Texas Utilities Company, the Oklahoma Utilities Company, and the Iowa Light & Power Company, had a right to bring suit to question the validity of the power projects.

He ruled, however, that the two statutes under which the projects are being carried out, the national industrial recovery act, and the emergency relief act of 1935, are constitutional.

Projects Authorized

He also held that the power projects were authorized by the terms of these two statutes.

The United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia recently held the resettlement administration, created under the 1935 emergency relief act, unconstitutional.

Another case challenging the constitutionality of the PWA power program already is before the Supreme Court on an appeal by the Duke Power Company from a Circuit Court ruling upholding a grant to the Buzzards Bay Power project, South Carolina.

Will Destroy Investments

The suit ruled on by Wheat involved PWA allocations totaling $2,444,000 to ten cities, located in Alabama, Texas, Oklahoma, and Iowa. The four utility firms which now furnish electricity to these communities sought to prevent construction of competing municipal power plants with PWA funds.

Plaintiffs contended that the projects would destroy $3,619,000 worth of investments made by the four private companies.

Hearings lasted more than three weeks, during which Secretary of Interior Ickes appeared as the chief government witness.

Utility company attorneys contended that PWA was unconstitutional because the 1935 emergency relief act under which it was established invaded states rights and delegated "almost unlimited powers" to the president.

They also argued that the power developments were not "useful projects," since they would merely duplicate existing electric plants.

Dean Acheson, attorney for the utility companies, said that he would appeal the case immediately to the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. Government attorneys said they would not oppose continuation of temporary injunctions now in force, pending a final decision by higher tribunals.

Three Boys Killed on Railroad Track

Iowa City, Ia., June 5.—(AP)—A coroner's inquest was called today to investigate the deaths of three high school boys, killed here yesterday when they were struck by the Rock Island Railroad's Rocky Mountain limited.

The three—Bob Bruce, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bruce, Galena, Ill.; Robert Chechok, 15, and Darrell Ott, 15, both of Iowa City, were chasing butterflies along the tracks, witnesses said, and jumped out of the path of a freight train directly in front of the limited.

SHOT HOLE-IN-ONE

Springfield, N. J., June 5.—(AP)—Zell Eaton, Oklahoma City, who turned professional this year after a notable career as an amateur, contributed a hole-in-one to the scoring spree in the national open golf championship this afternoon. He sank his tee shot with a mashie on the 158-yard tenth hole.

RABIES IN DUPAGE CO.

Naperville, Ill.—A dog quarantine was imposed in Elmhurst and Naperville townships of DuPage counties after the death of Walter Wallace, Elmhurst boy, from the bite of a rabid dog, and the death of several farm animals from the same cause.

Complaint Cause

Chicago, June 5.—(AP)—Andrew J. Callinan, arrested for illegal parking, complained in traffic court that Policeman Daniel Skord forced him to drive around for an hour before giving him a summons. Policeman Skord, who said he had been on the force for ten years, explained: "I was searching for the Central police station."

DAY, FREED OF MURDER CHARGE, TO ASK PAROLE

Jury Quickly Acquitted Convict of Murder of Richard Loeb

Joliet, Ill., June 5.—(AP)—James Day, moody young convict acquitted of slaying "thrill killer" Richard Loeb in a razor fight at the Stateville penitentiary, began an effort today to win complete freedom.

The 21-year-old felon was returned to prison late yesterday after a Circuit Court jury that deliberated 53 minutes returned a not guilty verdict, but he was buoyed by his attorneys' plans to apply for a hearing next month before the state parole board.

"I've got a job in sight," he said. "I hope the board will show me consideration now."

The jurors' decision was applauded by spectators. Day—an orphan—was embraced by his aunt and uncle, Judge Edwin L. Wilson stated from the bench.

Judge Pledged Aid

"When you appear before the parole board, I will do anything I can for you."

In Chicago Clarence Darrow, aged lawyer who defended Loeb and Nathan Leopold in their 1924 trial for murdering 14-year-old Bobby Franks, termed it "justice in its fullest meaning." He added: "Day should never have been brought to trial for that type of crime—a killing which entailed no malice."

The defendant testified Loeb, highly educated scion of an affluent family, had "hounded" him for 14 months with indecent proposals. He said the showdown came in a prison bathroom last Jan. 28 when Loeb produced a straight-edged razor to enforce his demands. A hand-to-hand struggle ensued between the nude combatants in the steam-clouded chamber. Day, short and stocky, maintained he wrested the weapon from Loeb's hand and slashed Loeb's face with it.

Loeb staggered out with 53 gashes on his body.

Eligible for Parole

Day, sentenced to one to ten years for larceny in Chicago in 1933, was technically eligible for parole. His attorneys, Emmett Byrne and Harold Levy, announced Herman Silver has offered to act as his sponsor and to give him a job in his Chicago furniture shop.

Warden Joseph E. Ragen, who previously expressed opposition to Day's return to society, had no immediate comment.

The jurors who sat in the ten-day trial disclosed they took only two ballots.

Bodies of Baby and Rockford Man Taken from Drainage Canal

Lockport, Ill., June 5.—(AP)—The body of a baby girl, estimated to be about 18 months old, was recovered from the drainage canal here today by workmen at the Lockport dam.

Coroner E. A. Kingston of Will county said the baby, dressed in expensive clothing, bore several bruises, he estimated the body had been in the water several months.

Workmen found the body a few minutes after they had recovered the body of Robert B. Nash, 40, of Rockford, Ill., a CCC worker who had been missing from his camp at Lemont, several miles east of here, since Monday.

Former Policeman Faces Prison Term

Edwardsville, Ill., June 5.—(AP)—Hugh McCain, former East Alton policeman, today faced a prison term of from one to 14 years after pleading guilty to assault with intent to kill a policeman.

Circuit Judge Maurice V. Joyce sentenced McCain, who had been charged with shooting Henry Feldwisch, 65-year-old patrolman, when the latter was called to intervene in a family quarrel at McCain's home May 24.

ROOSEVELT TAX ON PROFITS MAY BE PASSED NOW

Later Adjournment by Congress Gives Leaders Hope

Washington, June 5.—(AP)—Now that Congress has cast aside all thought of adjourning before mid-June, informed sources believe that the Roosevelt forces' chances of obtaining stiffer taxes on undistributed profits of corporations have improved.

When the administration leaders' drive for adjournment by tomorrow night was still on, the word on Capitol Hill was that President Roosevelt stood ready to compromise by scrapping part of his tax program if necessary to hasten the session's end.

But the sudden death by Speaker Byrns forced the leaders to put the adjournment off until June 15 or 16, at the earliest. While the decision is known to be motivated solely by the situation created by Byrns' death, and not by any desire to obtain more time to argue in behalf of the profits tax, it does in fact permit advocates of the tax to conduct a more extensive drive.

Senate Recedes for Byrns

All ideas of adjourning before the beginning of the Republican national convention Tuesday were abandoned as the Senate, which had hoped to debate taxes yesterday, recessed in tribute to Byrns.

It was called together today to pick up the debate where it was left off Wednesday night, and leaders hoped for quick action on the Senate finance committee's bill, which includes taxes of 15 1/2 to 18 per cent on corporation net income, 7 per cent on undistributed profits, and increases in the income surtaxes in surtax brackets over $6,000. The House bill is featured by a 42 1/2 per cent levy on net income, the tax being graduated according to the percentage of profits withheld from distribution to stockholders.

Congress Will Recede

After the Senate acts on the measure, it and the House bill will go into a conference of Senators and Representatives who will try to strike an agreement. Meantime, Congress will declare a series of recesses during next week and will convene again after the convention.

Aside from the tax bill and the big deficiency-relief bill, which has yet to be acted upon finally, leaders saw little chance that any controversial legislation would go through. This diminished the hopes of those who want action on the new Guffey coal control bill, the Wagner low-cost housing bill, and legislation to replace existing ocean mail contracts with a system of outright subsidies.

Plan Republican Day State Fair, Aug. 19

Springfield, Ill., June 5.—(AP)—Republican Day is to be resumed this year as one of the state fair's political rallies.

Arrangements to hold Republican Day on Wednesday, August 19, were reported after negotiations between state chairman Perry B. McCullough and agricultural department officials.

Governor's Day, the Democratic rally, is scheduled for August 20. Republicans have not staged state fair programs since 1933. With state-wide candidates attending the state fair rallies are the traditional campaigns for the opening of political campaigns.

Queen Mary Starts Return this Morn: Won't Seek Record

New York, June 5.—(AP)—The British liner Queen Mary sailed today on her first return trip eastward across the Atlantic, carrying 1855 passengers.

Both the Commander, Sir Edgar T. Britten and Sir Percy Bates, chairman of the board of the Cunard and White Star Line, said the new queen of the seas would not attempt to establish any speed record. On this crossing, the ship plies slightly to the south of the westward course.

The sailing had been scheduled for 8:30 A. M. (CST), but due to the heavy passenger list and the crowds down to the dock to bid a "bon voyage" the huge liner did not slip from her pier and head down the Hudson until 8:55.

Among the passengers were Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, Jules S. Bache, the broker, and Hedda Hopper and Elsie Ferguson, actresses.

DAVENPORT, IA. PUBLISHER PREY EXTORTIONISTS

Davenport, Ia., June 5.—(AP)—Davenport police questioned a private detective and three women today concerning what Police Chief Sam Kelly said apparently was an attempted extortion plot against E. P. Adler, Davenport publisher.

Those held: Marie Dumond, 16, Rosemary Sankers, 18, a maid in the Dumond home.

William Trever, 45, private detective for the Iowa Detective Agency, operated by A. P. Caffee, who recently was acquitted in district court on a charge of receiving stolen property.

Mrs. Evelyn Caffee, wife of A. P. Caffee.

Chief Kelly said Miss Sankers admitted making a number of telephone calls to Adler, who is president of the Lee newspaper syndicate and president of the Davenport Trust & Savings bank. She claimed, Kelly said, that she made the calls at Miss Dumond's request.

Trever was arrested late last night as he approached Adler's automobile, parked before a theater. Kelly said a trap was laid after the publisher received a telephone call instructing him to meet the caller before the theater.

Kelly said Adler had received several telephone calls and notes demanding money.

GIRL MAY LOSE DIPLOMA: WON'T SALUTE BANNER

Chicago, June 5.—(AP)—Her refusal to salute the flag because of her religious scruples today jeopardized 14-year-old Beverly Buffington's right to an eighth grade graduating diploma from Roosevelt school in suburban Maywood.

Mrs. Mabel Hipwell, the principal, told the girl yesterday that she might have another chance to salute the flag but Beverly replied that she belonged to a religious cult which taught that no symbol "for anything but God" should be praised or saluted.

School board Attorney O. A. Fross said Illinois law required schools to display an American flag but made no reference to saluting it.

School officials then suggested that Beverly might be given a certificate entitling her to attend high school, but deprived of her diploma and barred from participation in class exercises.

Springfield, Ill., June 5.—(AP)—State and federal officials today said there is no law to require the saluting of the flag, which a Chicago school girl refused to do.

The offices of the attorney general and the Legislative Reference Bureau said the state law does not require that the flag be displayed in schools and does not deal with the question of saluting.

Howard L. Doyle, United States district attorney, said a federal statute making "defiance" of the flag a misdemeanor applied only to the District of Columbia.

Lowden Sends Data For Farm Platform to G.O.P. Committee

Oregon, Ill., June 5.—(AP)—Former Governor Frank O. Lowden "wouldn't presume to submit a farm plank" but on request has mailed some data to the Republican national committee in Cleveland, he said today.

He said he had sent "excerpts from some speeches" to Harrison E. Spangler, director of the G. O. P.'s western division, now on the convention scene. He declined to say what proposals were included.

"When it was suggested that I draft a farm plank I said I wouldn't presume to relieve the resolutions committee of that duty," Lowden said at his Smississippi farm.

"That committee will be a very able one, and will have its own views."

He said he had no intention of attending the convention, even as a visitor, adding: "It's a lot more attractive here on the farm than it is in Cleveland."

Mrs. Dorothy Andrus Joins American Team

CONGRESS WILL RECESS DURING GOP CONVENTION

Washington, June 5.—(AP)—The senate today agreed to a house resolution for a recess of congress from Monday June 8 to Monday June 15, the week of the Republican national convention at Cleveland.

He told newsmen, however, that the senate would only meet briefly Monday to adopt any minor conference reports that may be ready and then recess, without doing any business.

The house's action definitely placed the final adjournment date of congress for the first time at later than June 15.

The house met an hour before the funeral services for the late Speaker Byrns to dispose of this business after adopting a resolution formally inviting the senate, the president, Supreme Court, diplomatic corps, and heads of the military establishments to the funeral services.

ARGUMENTS FLY OVER WISDOM OF ELECTIONS BILL

Permanent Registration May Be Extended to All Downstate

Springfield, Ill., June 5.—(AP)—Political and legislative arguments over the "honest elections" issue today continued after the fourth special session's stormy but overwhelming passage of the permanent registration bill.

A move to extend the registration system to the smaller downstate municipalities is expected to be made at the 1937 regular session. State-wide bills are now before the senate, but have virtually no chance for passage because of the recess to June 17 for the Republican national convention.

Members of both parties, having participated in bitter arguments in house and senate, watched to see what effect permanent registration might have on the November campaign.

Democrats Still Split

Violent attacks upon Governor Horner by Chicago Democrats were taken as an indication that the majority party's pre-primary split had not been healed. The Kelly-Nash Chicagoans were unable to block passage of the election reform plan by the Horner Democrats and Republican majority.

Needing 26 votes, it got the two-thirds majority of 34. The governor announced he would sign the bills with pleasure.

Senator Harold G. Ward and Rep. Benjamin S. Adamowski, spokesmen for the Kelly-Nash organization, declared that permanent registration would jeopardize President Roosevelt's prospects in Illinois, arguing that foreign-born voters would stay away from the polls rather than admit they could not sign their names.

The Chicagoans, fighting the state administration, intimated that the vote for the governor also might be cut down in November.

"We're for honesty all over the state," they declared, making fuel demands that registration also be applied to Republican territory downstate.

Ward on the senate floor implied the metropolitan organization would retaliate against Democrats who supported the governor.

Attacks upon the governor already are a basic part of the Republican campaign. The "declaration of principles" adopted by the Republican state convention contained allegations that he opposed permanent registration until recently, and before his split with the Chicago Democrats, was the beneficiary of alleged frauds at the polls.

Republican legislators, who have tried since 1933 to put across permanent registration, expressed hope that it would reduce the Democratic majorities in Cook county and increase the prospects of their state ticket. In the debate, Republicans repeatedly charged that thousands of fraudulent votes are cast on behalf of the Chicago Democrats.

This Ward denied, saying that registration has a small part in any election dishonesty.

Will Apply to Rockford
Permanent registration will apply to the election commissions at Chicago, Peoria, Bloomington, Springfield, Danville, Cairo, East St. Louis, Rockford, Aurora and Galesburg. There are reports that some other cities including Evansville and Champaign, might ask to come under the jurisdiction of commissions.

Several downstate legislators declared that fraudulent voting exists in their communities and expressed a willingness to support future amendments to extend permanent registration to all municipalities of 5,000 population.

Campbell will Back Nash to the Finish

Chicago, June 5.—(AP)—State Democratic Chairman Bruce Campbell was lined up today behind Patrick A. Nash of Chicago for re-election as Illinois national committeeman, a post expected to be the object of contention by factions of the split state organization.

Informed last night that Sen. James Hamilton Lewis had named V. Y. Dailman, Springfield publisher, as a possible compromise candidate acceptable to both Gov. Horner and the rival Cook county Democratic bloc, Campbell said:

"I'm for Pat Nash, first, last and always. He's my man as long as he's in the running." He added he was unaware of any compromise sentiment. He predicted Nash would receive votes of 35 or 58 Illinois delegates to the Philadelphia convention.

Judge Refuses to Accept Guilty Plea from Farmer-Slayer

Edwardsville, Ill., June 5.—(AP)—Circuit Judge V. Joyce has announced there will be a hearing within two weeks in the case of Julius Kuethe, 22-year-old farmer, charged with the slaying of Mrs. Charlotte Pilz, 40-year-old widow.

Judge Joyce refused to accept a plea of guilty entered by Kuethe at his arraignment yesterday, and appointed an attorney for the young man. The judge explained he wanted to hear "Kuethe's side of the story."

Authorities have quoted Kuethe as saying he beat Mrs. Pilz to death in a field near her home March 29 after she had accused him of killing her dog and threatening to have him arrested.

STATE TREASURY BALANCE DROPS

$58,895,092 Cash on Hand Last Day of May, Says Stelle

Springfield, Ill., June 5.—(AP)—The state treasury's revenue fund balance dropped to $58,895,470 on May 31, the lowest figure in a year, Treasurer John Stelle's monthly report showed today.

The revenue fund, from which special relief appropriations have been made, totaled more than $17,000,000 at the start of the year.

The state's total income during May was reported at $14,245,941, the highest month since February, while Stelle said disbursements were $17,857,617, leaving the total treasury balance at $58,895,092.

The revenue fund, chiefly supported by the sales tax, is used for meeting the costs of most of the state offices. Available funds would be decreased if the legislature enacts the bill to give half, instead of a third, of the sales tax, revenues to relief.

Income Increases

Total income for the first five months of 1936 was reported at $73,251,877, compared with $61,856,560 for the same period of last year.

Sources of May revenue were: Direct property tax, $183,588; inheritance tax, $257,942; beverage and liquor revenue, $1,543,124; insurance fees and taxes, $59,578; corporation fees and taxes, $213,271; interest on state funds, $13,124; occupational tax, $3,851,852; occupational tax, paid under protest, $620,623; occupational tax for emergency relief, $2,237,021; motor fuel tax, $2,920,342; motor vehicle tax, $895,313; federal aid to roads, $515,496; trust funds, $221,872; miscellaneous fees, earnings and refunds, $712,790.

GETTING OLD

By Joseph Fort Newton

"WHAT you said about loneliness recently," a woman writes, "was good advice for the young and for those in middle life who enjoy health, but not for those who are old, ill and lonely."

"Of course, if you have never known heart-weakening loneliness which not only shuts you in but shuts you out from the activities of life, you would not understand, much less sympathize."

"As one grows older friends pass away and if one is ill it is impossible to meet many people. Usually your pieces show deep sympathy, but for once you failed. What do you know about old age?"

Nothing, so far—but it will come along later. My piece was not for those made lonely by age and illness, but for those who make themselves lonely by some inhibition that shuts them in.

Yet it is not too early for me to begin forming my mind about aging life when the road winds westward down hill. Surely it is largely a question of how much to let go and how much to keep.

In other words, it is a way of thinking and looking at life. The tragedy of age is not that a man feels old, but that he still feels young—that is, until he has reached a very great age. Is it not so?

It must be a bitter day when one realizes that the world is for the young and he is no longer of that company. Often it is from our own children that we learn that hard lesson.

But learn it we must, soon or late, and face it. It is hard to know that young people are no longer interested in us but harder still to find that we are not interested in ourselves!

There is the peril of middle life and the burden of age—the loss of interest in life, the cooling of enthusiasms. The danger is that we may let go and sink into spiritless apathy.

To go on believing, fighting, loving when you are tired and life is stale, living not for joy but for duty—that is the hard thing, but it is the grand thing, too. We dare not let life down!

Former Amboy Girl Weds in Aurora Thursday

Mrs. O. A. Dickinson, Mrs. J. Wheatland and John Carroll of Amboy drove to Aurora Wednesday evening to attend the wedding of their niece, Anna Marie Farnham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Farnham, former residents of Amboy. The wedding took place at 6 o'clock Thursday morning at St. Nicholas Catholic church. Rev. Msgr. Schumacher performed the ceremony, followed by nuptial high Mass.

The groom, Anthony W. Biever, is a son of Mrs. Margaret Biever of Aurora and a young man of sterling qualities, employed for a number of years in the Independent Pneumatic Tool Co.

The bride was attired in shell pink chiffon with white accessories and carried sweet peas and white roses. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Margaret Jungles, who wore blue crepe de chene and carried rose roses. William Farnham, brother of the bride, acted as best man.

After the ceremony the wedding party drove to the home of the bride's parents, where breakfast was served. After a trip to Chicago and Wisconsin the couple will be at their newly furnished home at 380 Claim St., Aurora. The bride is well known in Amboy having been born there and educated in St. Anne's parochial school. Her many friends extend congratulations.

This garment may be as colorful as you like—ranging in tone from the delicate pastels to the more decided shades, as your needs demand.

This is a stitch which goes very fast, and is easily executed even by the novice in knitting. Simple, clear, and complete directions make the work a pleasure and the blouse, No. C8171, becomes a reality in a very short time.

To order, ask for No. C8171 or tear out illustration and send with 10 cents stamps or coin. (Any three 10 cent "Make It Yourself Patterns" only 25 cents.) Address your order to MAKE IT YOURSELF PATTERN BUREAU, Dixon Evening Telegraph, Box 166, Kansas City, Mo. Be sure to give your name and complete address.

Fell-Mead Wedding Wednesday at Steward

The M. M. Fell home in Steward was the scene of a pretty wedding Wednesday, June the third when Miss Gertrude Mary Fell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Fell, became the bride of Alva W. Mead of Fairfield. The bride's immediate family was present.

The bridal party entered the living room promptly at eleven o'clock. The bride was given away by her father. The single ring ceremony was performed by Rev. H. P. White of the Steward Methodist Episcopal church.

The bride wore an embroidered floor length gown of white mouseline de soie with a touch of blue. Her shoulder corsage was made up of old fashioned flowers. The groom was in summer formal attire.

At high noon a four course dinner was served. Table decorations were in the bride's colors of blue and white. Blue delphiniums and white daisies helped to carry out the color scheme.

Following the dinner the bride and groom left for a motor trip to New Orleans and other points in the South. As her going-away suit, the bride wore delf blue English homespun the material of which her father had bought for her in Kingston, Jamaica.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Mead will spend the summer in Champaign where both will attend summer school at the University of Illinois. They will be at home to their friends at Burlington, Ill., after September the first.

Mrs. Mead is a graduate of the Northwestern University at which school she took special work in music. She has been teaching English and music the past year in the Burlington township high school.

Mr. Mead is a graduate of Illinois Normal University and has been doing graduate work at the University of Illinois. He has traveled extensively through the United States and possessions—a period of two years being spent in government service in Alaska. He has been superintendent of the Burlington township high school for the past four years.

Some Food Rich in Iron Mentioned for Springtime Table

BY MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

I wonder how many springtimes this makes that I've commented on your family's seasonal appetite slump. Well, it's still a fact, no matter how often I may talk about it, and fruits such as rhubarb and grapefruit are as ever the most effective pick-ups.

Lemon sauce, tartar sauces and horseradish sauces also whet the appetite. They add food value to the meal, too.

Foods rich in iron will do much to pep you up. Physiologists tell us that iron in the blood is the carrier of oxygen to the tissues where food materials are burned to release energy.

A study of many dietaries shows them to be lacking in iron, carefully selected though they may be. Too little iron in blood and tissues causes them to misbehave. The external indications of this internal misbehavior are apparent in poor color, listlessness and lack of vigor. In short, spring fever.

Meat Is Rich in Iron

Although meat is one of the richest sources of this all-important element, it would be very unwise to try to get the family's entire supply from a high meat diet.

Fruits and vegetables, then, must be the mainstays of the spring menu-maker, with plenty of bulky ones assured to give the digestive tract its much needed exercise.

This partial list of iron-rich foods may be convenient to have at hand when planning menus: Lean beef, liver, oysters, eggs, (the yolks have iron), lentils, dried beans, peas, chard, strong beans, asparagus, lettuce, radishes, potatoes, spinach, carrots, apricots, dates, figs, raisins, prunes, oatmeal, strawberries, pineapples, dried currants, bananas, whole cereals, cranberries, olives and molasses.

The method of cooking has a great deal to do with the iron content of foods, did you know it? Certain vegetables which are rich sources in their raw state may be of little value after careless cooking. To conserve all the iron possible, cut vegetables in the largest convenient pieces and cook in the smallest amount of water.

Spinach has the highest iron content of any of the vegetables and of course is rich in vitamins, but there are other spring vegetables that are splendid sources of mineral salts and vitamins.

Dandelion greens, beet greens and all the other many varieties of greens are in season and often may be had for the picking.

Bride Treats G.O.P. 'Best Man'

It is an auspicious month for both the charming bride and the beaming aspirant for the Republican presidential nomination, and so the piece of cake which the new Mrs. Richard H. Seaton is shown handing to Gov. Alfred M. Landon is in the nature of a toast for luck. Though it's a busy time for the governor, he found time to attend the wedding of Miss Mary Holton, daughter of Dean Edwin Lee Holton of Kansas State summer school, to a newspaper executive, at Manhattan, Kan.

FARM REFORM AHEAD OF FARM RECOVERY

George N. Peek, former Ogle county man, who spent fourteen years associated with the leaders of farm organizations in efforts to restore equality for agriculture, is showing rather clearly what happened to the principles for which they had been fighting. Recent articles in the Saturday Evening Post are full of interesting recitals and records, too much to digest in the brief space available to us. There are a few points that may be set out:

1. Peek repeats in substance the charges made by Dr. William Wirt concerning the social revolutionists.
2. The AAA as put into execution was—Not approved by Mr. Peek.
Not approved by Earl Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural association.
Not approved by Wayne C. Taylor, executive assistant administrator.
Not approved by Gen. W. S. Westervelt of the processing and marketing division of the AAA.
3. It was the development of those well known farmers, Felix Frankfurter of Harvard law school, Jerome Frank, who came claiming to represent Mr. Frankfurter, and Professor Tugwell.
4. The farm leaders who had borne the brunt of the battle for a decade were used as protection up to the doorway of collectivism, and then were shoved into outer darkness and the social revolutionists took command.

4. The place of Mr. Peek is indicated in this conclusion of the third of his series of articles:
"The unanswered question is whether or not Mr.
Brand and I ever were anything more than window dressing to give confidence to congress and the farmers until the secret plans could be matured. It will be remembered that congress—and especially the senate—was against the act if it were to be administered by Wallace and Tugwell. Had the Wallace-Tugwell plans been known in the beginning, most certainly neither the farmers nor congress would have accepted the act."
"It would seem that Mr. Brand and I were kept in front only until public funds could be used to organize a machine and purchase the acquiescence of enough of the farmers to establish the system of regimented production."

Reference above to verification of the assertions of Dr. Wirt is based upon the following by Peek, who brings up the subject through a conversation with one of his associates:

"He said it seemed crazy, but that he knew whereof he spoke when he affirmed that some of the bright young men of the departments were holding night meetings and a lot of those present were talking social revolution. . . . They blamed all ills on capitalism and were for abolishing it, either by degrees or at once. Since few of them, as far as I could find out, had ever employed any one, they saw no difficulties in regulating the affairs of millions. They thought charts would do that."

"They were very certain that both workers and farmers were well-defined classes very much in need of being educated in the right way, and led. They saw little difference between the American workers and farmers and the Russian varieties. They deeply admired everything Russian."

"It did not so much concern me, at first, what the boys and girls did in the evening, so long as they attended to their work during the day, and on the whole, there seemed to be no great harm in spending their evenings in youthful oratory. But, unfortunately, they were mostly pretty useless during the day when switched from talking. It took us some time to find out how useless they were, and by then they had dug themselves very firmly into our administration."

In the light of developments a pair of political pledges are worth reprinting. Peek says:

"It will be noted that, as the agricultural adjustment act was administered, it exactly reversed these positions, and that Mr. Wallace, when he came into power as secretary of agriculture, forwarded the very principle of acreage limitation which he and I, in the campaign, had emphasized as the chief reason why President Hoover should not be reelected."

Further Mr. Peek quotes Franklin Roosevelt's Baltimore speech, as follows:

"Of course, it is absurd to talk of lowering tariff duties on farm products. . . . I promised to endeavor to restore the purchasing power of the farm dollar by making the tariff effective for agriculture and raising the price of farm products. I do not intend that such duties be lowered. To do so would be inconsistent with my entire farm program, and every farmer knows it and will not be deceived."

With characteristic disregard for his pledges the president, by his own act, lowered the tariffs with a consequent inflow of farm products. On one occasion he was seeking farm votes. On the other it appeared that the 1936 farm vote had been purchased with checks and was safe in his pocket. The farmer had been deceived.

That reform definitely was put ahead of recovery is set forth in the following from Peek:

"The hogs and corn program distributed a large sum of money to producers. As a program to put the corn-hog producers on an exchange level in farm income, it failed utterly. And it failed because the chief under-cover attention was given to diverting the agricultural adjustment act into a farm-and-food-business regimenting device. What these people called 'reform' was made an issue paramount to putting the corn-hog farmers on their feet."

Mr. Peek ought to know. He was there.

OLD-TIME TOUGH GUY TURNS TO HOLLYWOOD

Quantity production of very tough mugs has always been one of the things this country has prided itself on. From colonial times down to the present it has turned out its full share of hard guys, and some of them have been very hard guys indeed.

But it comes as a bit of a shock to learn that the hardest guys of all, these days are to be found in Hollywood—Hollywood, home of the matinee idol and the Grecian profile!

Testimony to this effect is offered by Richard Rosson, movie director. Rosson recently went up into the white pine forests of the great northwest to make some lumberjack sequences for a new film. He wanted to show how the hard boiled lumberjacks broke log jams, rode falling trees, took logs through the rapids, and otherwise acted in the catch-me-death tradition of their calling.

But he could find no one willing to take the necessary chances; and in the end he had to send back to Hollywood for a crew of stunt men to go up and perform the tricks that were too risky for the real lumberjacks!

This probably will come as a blow to all of our old traditions. But its point is, not that the country is producing a race of softies these days, but that its dare-devils are simply going into other lines of work. The routine of ordinary industry is growing safer and the hard guys aren't needed as they once were. So they are going to the places where they are needed, like Hollywood.

And if it seems odd to find them there, it ought to be remembered that the American tough guy has always had a good dash of theatricalism in his makeup.

The legendary ruffians of the Kentucky backwoods in the early 1800's—those ferocious chaps who gouged, bit and kicked in their frontier brawls—called themselves "half horse, half alligator"; and what is a self-chosen title like that but a means of advertising to the world a hardihood of which the owner is highly proud?

The rip-snorting pioneers of the wild west were the same. They gave their towns names like Hangtown, Whisky Gulch, and so on. Their gunmen elaborately carved notches in pistol butts to record their killings.
They scornfully called the eastern visitor a tenderfoot.
Does it take a psychologist to discover that they were glorying in their roughness as truly as any dressed-up actor on the stage?

You could cite a dozen similar examples. The American roughneck always did have one eye on his audience. Miners, cowboys, Conestoga teamsters, lumberjacks, trappers and backwoodsmen—underneath it it all they were playing a part, for their own eyes if for no one else's.

And if at last they have emigrated to Hollywood—well, they are simply going where they belonged in the first place.

The funny hammer laughed in glee, and said, "Well, you have all heard me make lots of noise, and now you know that I can work real fast."

"A lot more pounding I could do, I stopped, though, 'cause you asked me to. If you'd kept still, my hammering for days and nights would last."

Then Goldy said, "I was the one who yelled at you. It is no fun to have to stand and hold your ears.
I'm glad the thumping's over."

"Somebody take the pan away, but, Mister Hammer you can stay.
You said you could build something, and that's what we're waiting for."

"That's right," came back the quick reply. "That's what I prom-my word. Now tell me, what would you suggest?"

too, will help me in whatever I do."

DAILY HEALTH

DEPRESSION AND DIET

The public has been given apparently contradictory information on the effects of the economic depression on the health and well-being of the population, particularly on the children. Some have insisted that the depression undoubtedly has injured the growth and well-being of those in the lower economic classes.

Others have argued that weighing and measuring the children of families on relief fail to show any decline in stature or weight when the figures are compared with those of preceding years.

These reports do not really contradict each other. In substance they are both correct. The difference arises in the "yardsticks" employed.

depression, and little difference is seen. But even in times of so-called prosperity, an appreciable propo-tion of the population lives close to the depression level. This may not be entirely due to lack of income.
In many instances it unquestion-ably is due to the fact that the adults of these families did not know how to make the best use of their resources.

Two surveys of the diets of low income families have shown that the diets uniformly lack sufficient amounts of milk, vegetables and fruits, and include a relative excess of meats, fish, eggs and sugary foods.

In six cities studied, the average milk consumption was one-third less than the minimum suggested requirement while fruits and vegetables were down to the absolute minimum needs. Such a dietary is undoubtedly low in calcium and probably does not contain desirable amounts of certain vitamins.
The gross figures of height and weight are not a dependable index to children's health. Illness must be taken into account. In the studies referred to it was found that the incidence of sickness tends to increase as income decreases.

Traveling Around America

FLORES FRESCITAS!

"FLOWERS, little flowers, little fresh flowers—very cheap flowers" is the musical cry of these three little girls encountered selling flowers in the highlands of Peru. Natives young and old meet the trains which take travelers inland from ports on the regular route of the weekly cruises from New York to Peru—their chants float through the car windows bidding passengers to buy "the freshest, cheapest flowers in kingdom come." Their bouquets are veritable rainbows which coax many a peso from the pockets of the passengers.

The flowers are gorgeous in the cultivated gardens which adorn almost every home in Arequipa, Peru —even the humble hut—but they are even more entrancing growing wild in the woods. There the bright blossoms attract myriads of butterflies of every species and blue—brilliant reds and blues and greens—dotted and striped and bordered in rich dark shades—some of them notably a certain cerulean blue species, have a wing spread of more than six inches. The number of species seem limitless—in fact, more than six hundred different kinds of butterflies have been found in just one small section of the Amazon Valley. Indeed, the jungles of Peru are a paradise for the botanist and entomologist.

WILLIAM FREDERICK DEGNER

(Contributed)

William Frederick Degner, son of Frederick and Sophia Degner, was born in Bradford township, Oct.
23, 1873. In early infancy, he was baptized. Later in the year 1899, he was united with the Lutheran church by rite of confirmation, which was conducted by Rev. Staufenberg. He was a faithful member until the end.

On Feb. 8, 1900, Mr. Degner was united in marriage to Miss Mary K. Albrecht. Three children blessed this union. For many years he had been ailing with asthma. Within a day of his death he was about his daily tasks. A doctor was summoned the evening before his death, but all that medical skill could do was of no avail. He peacefully fell asleep in his home in Bradford township, Friday night, May 29, at about 11:30 P. M., at the age of 62 years, seven months and six days.

Mr. Degner was well and favorably known in this community. He was a faithful husband, loving and considerate neighbor and a kind friend. Besides his widow he leaves by his unexpected departure, three children, Carl Degner, Franklin Grove, Raymond Degner, Bradford, five grandchildren and four sisters. Many other more distant relatives and a host of friends also survive. Funeral services were conducted Monday from the Lutheran church at Ashton, the pastor, Rev.
F. W. Henke officiating.

Miss Ashdown and Mr. Shaffer both gave short talks on the purpose and organization of the National Honor Society. An interesting item of Mr. Shaffer's talk was his statement that there are more than 1900 such societies in the United States and over 200,000 students members.

Roger Pierson gave an address about the origin of the society, and Mae Hussey explained the significance of the emblem with which the members are presented. Ruth Kuhn read a part of the constitution of the society and then read a letter from the faculty of P. H.

Visits Here

Miss Evelyn Turner of Casey, Illinois, spent last week-end visiting friends in Princeton. Miss Turner was formerly teacher of French and girls' physical education in the Princeton high school.

Test in English

Mr. DeLay gave a test on poetry appreciation in his senior English classes. There were eight poems, and each was rated first, second, third, etc., by the students. Mr. DeLay was not very encouraged by the way things came out. "A Thing of Beauty," which was supposed to be rated first, was eighth. "Lost," supposedly second, was rated fifth.

Mr. DeLay decided to find out what the freshmen knew about poetry appreciation, so he gave his freshmen class the same test. The class rated "A Thing of Beauty" seventh, and "Lost" fifth. Here's something on both the seniors and the freshmen that makes us shudder; both classes rated "Mother," the poorest poem in the collection, first!!

Farewell Assembly

As the end of the school year of 1935-1936 approaches, the seniors of Princeton high school have begun to realize with regret that they are spending their final few days in a place to which they have come for the last four years to receive their education. For many it is the end of their education except for that which they will acquire through their own study and experience. For others it marks the end of preparation and the beginning of a college education.

But it is not merely the announcement that final examinations will be given on a certain date, that all work will be due before the final day of examinations, that they will turn in the lock to their lockers, and other such necessary information that makes the graduating class realize their high school life is coming to an end. There are other occasions that bring this thought into their minds as well. There is baccalaureate, there is the final climax, commencement, and before either of these there is the farewell assembly.

This year the farewell assembly was held Wednesday morning, May 27. The first part of the program was the reading of the senior class prophecy. It was read by three of the senior girls, Geraldine Snyder, Alice Schwab, Gemma Pieri dressed as Gypsy fortune tellers. Much merriment was afforded by the ridiculous "fortunes" inflicted upon the outgoing students.

At the close of the fortune telling Paul Haberkorn read a letter from Pick and Up and presented peppermint sticks to Miss Margaret Bell, Ruth Kuhn, Jim Tedrow, Edmund Stiles, and Mae Hussey. Then came the eagerly awaited moment when the identity of the infamous pair was disclosed. Eugene Moran and Norma Klass!

After the seniors sang an original farewell song, the president of the senior class, Roy Campbell, appeared on the platform in cap and gown. The president of the junior class, Johnny Hopkins, stepped to the platform. The cap and gown were presented to the juniors by the outgoing seniors and were duly accepted by the junior class through its president.

Then the voices of the four hundred students echoed in the auditorium as they enthusiastically sang the Princeton Loyalty, while the members of the senior class slowly walked up the aisle and out of the auditorium. The juniors passed from their seats down the aisle and across the front of the auditorium to the recently vacated seats of the senior class.

Every student felt a thrill of pride as the Princeton Loyalty rang through the hall and the changing of seats symbolized the passing from this year to the next. Each listened to the Loyalty as it was sung by the seniors from outside the auditorium.

Thus the graduating seniors gave their place to the oncoming juniors, with the hope that their senior year will be as happy and successful as the one the class of 1936 has just completed.

DAWN

A certain Rollin was walking by George's house at early morn;
He looked at the window with a sigh;
Then in his mind there came the dawn.

The window was open very wide.
He opened his ears and then he heard
Wood sawing was going on inside
As merrily sang a little bird.

Up the pillars to the top
He climbed as quickly as he could
Through the window, and then he stopped

And George snored on as best he could.
George awoke with great surprise
He thought 'twas the beginning of the end
Quickly he opened his sleepy eyes
The story ends they're still friends, first!!

You and Your Nation's Affairs

Our American Plan Works!

By JAMES S. THOMAS

President, Clarkson College of Technology

Last week reference was made to the discovery of our American Plan by a commission of Europeans who came here for a study of our plan of doing things. Here are a few of the things they discovered:

That 7 percent of the people in the world live in the United States under the American Plan had more purchasing power than all of Europe.

That this little group of people had created and owned more than half the wealth of the world.

That from only 6 percent of the world's acreage, we harvested more than half the world's foodstuffs.

That 60 percent of the world's minerals are extracted in America.

That we have half the world's communication facilities.

That we have nearly half the world's railway and electric energy.

That we produce 92 percent of the world's automobiles.

That 22,000,000 of these automobiles run over 600,000 miles of paved road here in the United States.

That in 1933 we spent more than the world's population enjoyed standards of living which enabled them to consume:

Half the world's coffee

Half the world's tin

Half the world's rubber

Three-fourths the world's silk

One-third the world's coal

Two-thirds the world's crude oil.

Quite a testimonial coming from a critical study of our American Plan by a commission of Europeans who wanted to know:

But the Commission was too scientific to be satisfied with only a materialistic exhibit of the success of the American Plan. The thing which seemed to amaze its members most was that in 1933 we spent more than 3 billion dollars on education which was, they said, more than was spent on education by all the other countries. They pointed out that today there are 29,300,000 young people attending schools and colleges in this country and that they are taught by a million teachers. Teachers and students together constitute a force of approximately one-fourth of our total population working at this thing we call idealistic culture. This is a very real part of the American Plan. At any rate, nothing like it has ever before happened on this planet!

The commission also asserted that real and practical independence for women was a part of the American Plan. We employ 11 million women and have assimilated some 7 million of these since 1900.

The commission also said it found that this American Plan had produced three times as much wealth as the whole world had been able to produce up to 1776 (about the time the American Plan started), and that it had been so generally distributed that the average man here became a magnet to attract others from all over the world, especially from Europe. (Where some of our most severe critics live.) Any way, it is true, that the population of this country since the middle of the last century grew, not ten times, but twenty times as fast as any population ever grew anywhere else in the world. Something attracted them. The commission thought it was the American Plan.

But it also took a look at what it called, "the common man." It said "the common man" under the American Plan had billions of dollars saved in millions of accounts in savings banks that they had 65 million life insurance policies, that 60 percent of the farms were unencumbered, and that 55 percent of the urban homes were owned by freeholders.

The members of the commission asked themselves the question, "Why has the American Plan worked so well? How has it wrought these miracles?" And in answer, they made their only mistake. They attributed our success to natural resources and mass production. But other nations have greater natural resources than we possess and we have no patent on mass production. It can be adopted by anyone who can work it. Mass production is a matter of ingenuity, inventive ability, the spirit of cooperation, and a high incentive to work. Always to work, to do a little more than is expected. This has been important in the American Plan.

But there is another reason the commission did not discover. About 1790, a lot of fellows made up their minds they were going to try something new. That they were going to change the relation between the political master and the citizen of the State. They decided they would make the government serve the individual and leave the individual free to express himself in as many ways as possible. It is not the American Plan to turn this around.

The American Plan has worked. The historical evidence is all on its side. Are we ready to junk it for a theoretical plan which has never been actually tried successfully anywhere in the world? Democracy and liberty are the basic elements in the American Plan. Both are being questioned today, especially in certain European countries. The European Plan may be alright for Europe. But the European Plan is not particularly reassuring just now. Besides, the American Plan has worked!

| One of the most persistent injury "jinxes" to dog any one club in years is doing its best to count the Detroit Tigers out of the pennant chase and wreck the world champions hopes of hanging onto their honors. | | | | |

| A series of tough breaks, beginning with the loss of the star hitter, Hank Greenberg, and following up with the removal of the number one pitcher, Schoolboy Rowe, and the outfield slugger, Al Simmons, all laid up for repairs, was climaxed yesterday by an illness which took Manager Mickey Cochrane out of the lineup, suffering from a nerve ailment. | | | | |

| His illness struck him suddenly, shortly after he had smashed out a homer with the bases loaded to spark the Tigers to an 18-9 victory over the Athletics. He hopes to return to action in a few days. | | | | |

| The win gave the Tigers undisputed possession of fourth place in the American League race, for the Washington Senators, with whom they had been deadlocked, lost their apparent stranglehold on the St. Louis Browns and fell 6-2 in the series finale. | | | | |

| In the rest of the American League, the Boston Red Sox made it three straight over the Cleveland Indians 4 to 3, as Lefty Grove chalked up his eighth win of the season, and the Chicago White Sox handed the New York Yankees their most lopsided whipping of the campaign to date, 16-3. | | | | |

| Over in the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals lost 4-3 to the Brooklyn Dodgers, but maintained their three-game league lead as the second place New York Giants were trimmed by Lon Warneke and the Chicago Cubs, 8-5, despite two home runs by Mel Ott. Cy Blanton finally rounded into some measure of his 1935 form and pitched the Pirates to a 7-5 win over the Boston Bees, although he failed to last the route, while the Reds sank the Phillies deeper into the cellar with a 5-3 trouncing. | | | | |

SMITH SCHOOL'S FIELD DAY WAS HELD YESTERDAY

Happy Children Enjoyed Annual Outing at Lowell Park

The pupils of the E. C. Smith school and their teachers enjoyed their annual field day at Lowell park yesterday. The day was perfect and a happy lot of grateful children returned to their homes in the evening after having spent a most enjoyable time. The events of the day, with Miss Esther Barton's eighth grade winning first place and Miss Chandler's fifth grade, second, were as follows:

The real fireworks are expected to start popping in the third round Saturday morning. . . . There will be no general tightening up until then. . . . The Detroit money is backing Hagen to win. . . . Michigan bettors hope Walter can duplicate the performances of the Detroit Tigers in baseball, the Detroit Lions in pro football, the Red Wings in hockey and make it more or less of a grand slam.

At Papanoch: The dope here is that Joe Jacobs and Max Schmeling will definitely split after the Joe Louis fight and that "Yussell Yoe" will go in as matchmaker of Mike Jacobs' hippodrome. . . . Trevor Wignall, famous sports columnist of the London Express, is watching Max train. . . . Also, Tommy Webster, the London cartoonist, . . . Both came over on the Queen Mary. . . . Schmeling puts in his spare time trying to use a typewriter. . . . Max has promised he'll return to Napanoch to train for Braddock—if he whips Louis. Ah!

Along Broadway: They say the Dempseys expect another "cheerful little earful" in August. . . . The Yanks continue to have trouble knocking off the second division clubs. . . . Prof. Billy McCarney, one of the smartest of fight managers, is back on the steam after a month in a dark room battling an ulcer on the eye. . . . Jimmy Braddock has begun training for a September bout with either Louis or Schmeling. . . . He's been doing gym work for two weeks and Monday will start road work. . . . The more you see of this big Irishman the less you wonder why his popularity is growing by leaps and bounds.

MT. MORRIS

By PAULINE YOE

MT. MORRIS—Saturday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock in the S. J. Campbell home in Mt. Carroll will occur the wedding of Miss Eunice Envidson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Envidson of Alberta, Sask., and Harry Hermann, son of Mrs. Helen Hermann of New York City. Rev. Seiner, pastor of the Baptist church, will read the ceremony in the presence of thirty-five guests, before an improvised altar banked with calla lilies, white peonies and white stock.
The bride has chosen a gown of white dotted net over satin, fashioned on Victorian lines with a train, high neck and long sleeves. She will wear a finger tip veil and carry an arm bouquet of calla lilies. Her sister, Miss Julia Envidson, of Chicago, who will attend her, will wear an apricot lace frock with a matching picture hat trimmed in orchid. Her bouquet will be rose buds and lavender stock. Mr. Campbell will attend Mr. Hermann at the altar.
Nuptial music for the occasion will be furnished by Miss Helen Brannon, harpist from Chicago, and Professor Leo Schwing, violinist from Frances Shimer school. They will be accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Schwing.
Mrs. Campbell has arranged a reception and supper to follow the ceremony at which she will use silver appointments, with white flowers at the tables.
Mr. Hermann will take his bride on a motor trip to Wawasee, Indiana where they will remain a week before returning to Mount Morris to reside at 109 North Seminary avenue. Miss Envidson will wear a two piece frock of brown net with white accessories on the trip.
Miss Envidson, who received her education in Clinton, Iowa, graduating from the Brown's Business college there, has resided in Mount Morris for over six years and is a popular member of the younger set. Mr. Hermann was educated in New York City and came to Mount Morris four years ago to become business manager of the Kable News Company.
A large number of local friends of the couple will journey to Mt. Carroll tomorrow to be present at the wedding. They include Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Stengel, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Millidge Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan McNett, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Stouffer, and Dr. and Mrs. C. Col. of Rockford, and the Misses Ethylie McNett, Beatrice Horton, Marian Symphon, Edna Coulson and Mary McColl.
Miss Ealy Grobe will leave Friday evening for Monmouth where she will be the bridesmaid at the wedding of an old school friend and room mate on Saturday in the United Presbyterian church there. For the wedding and reception Miss Grobe will be wearing a gown of yellow net over taffeta and will carry an arm bouquet of roses. Following the ceremony the wedding party will go to Davenport for a dinner. They will return to Mount Morris Sunday morning.
Word has been received in Mount Morris of the marriage of Miss Grace Pfeil, and John Young of Woodstock and Rockford, which occurred on Monday at the parsonage of the Evangelical church at Villa Park. The young couple exchanged their nuptial vows before Rev. Paul Church, pastor, Mrs. church, who was present at the ceremony, will be remembered as Miss Marietta Storey, formerly teacher in the local high school. Mr. and Mrs. Young will make their future home in Rockford.

Mrs. Young, who received her education at Northern Illinois State Teacher's at DeKalb has been a teacher in the first grade for the past seven years.

The new officers are Mrs. Warren Shook, president; Miss Gladys Rodeffer, vice-president; Miss Ula Rhone, secretary and Mrs. Dale Emmert, treasurer. The ladies of the society expressed their appreciation of Mrs. F. E. McCune through the reading of a farewell poem by Mrs. Jay Bechtold. A short musical consisting of several instrumental solos by Miss Mary Stouffer and vocal solos by Mrs. Vernon Hohnadel provided a sociable evening for the members.

The heavy rains of Monday evening failed to dampen the spirits of 31 members of the Mount Morris Woman's Club who journeyed to Oregon to hold their last regular meeting of the season at the Rock River Golf Club.

Following the annual reports given by the old officers, the keys of the organization were turned over to the newly elected officers, who are Pearl Kable, president; Mrs. O. A. Hanke, vice-president; Miss Mary McColl, second vice president; Mrs. Milo Zimmerman, recording secretary; Mrs. Tom Wilson, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ernest Bodyston, treasurer. A crackling fire made the club rooms cozy as the ladies played a few rounds of bridge after the business session. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Louis Finch and Mrs. Gerald Hough.

Plans are being made for attendance at the annual convention of the thirteenth district which will be held in Morrison June 13.

Mrs. Olive Rohleder, Miss Floy Avey, Mrs. Oscar Jern and Mrs. Robert Harvey made a congenial foursome of bridge at the home of the latter on Wednesday evening. Twenty-four members of the Ogle county board of Federated Woman's clubs were guests at the country home of Mrs. Harry Baker last Thursday afternoon. A buffet luncheon at which roast turkey was the piece de resistance, preceded the business session, at which Mrs. George Grieve of Rochelle, newly elected county chairman presided. Plans were completed for an all county picnic to be held in Memorial park at Rochelle, June 16th at which the Garden club and the Woman's club of that city will be joint hostesses. Mrs. Edith Coffman of Polo, the retiring county president, was present and was the recipient of a handkerchief shower.

As a postlude to a pleasant year together the members of the Current Events club enjoyed a luncheon at the home of the newly elected president, Mrs. Fred Dean, Center street. Mrs. Dean was assisted by Mrs. Will Prueh, Mrs. Robert Harvey and Mrs. Pearl Kable. Old fashioned yellow roses and mock orange blossoms were used to adorn the table while multi-colored peonies were used in abundance about the home. Misses W. W.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent playing "42" and anagrams, at which Mrs. Longman and Mrs. Price were prize winners.

If you're looking for an unusual recipe to tickle the palates of your family, just pluck this one from the Mulberry family tree of Don Clark. Cream together 1 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 tablespoon butter and add 2 well beaten eggs, 1-2 cups milk.

Line pan with pie crust and sprinkle the bottom with a little flour and nutmeg. Pour mixture in crust and bake in a moderate oven.

SENATOR MASON SPOKE AT STEW- ARD GRADUATION

"It Pays to Educate" Subject of Address Thursday Evening

"It Pays to Educate," was the subject of a very fitting and interesting address given by Senator Noah M. Mason of Oglesby at the fifth annual graduation exercises of the Steward Community high school last evening. The fine new auditorium was well filled by the interested residents of the school district, who heard an address which was quite different from the ordinary commencement talk.

The speaker was a graduate of the old Dixon college after which he accepted a position as teacher in the Hillside school near Lee in the east end of the county, where he became well known as a champion corn husker as well as being an efficient teacher. Sen. Mason is one of the outstanding champions of educational legislation in Illinois and the central west. During the course of his remarks, he placed his listeners in the role of stockholders in a great national business and in part said:

Schools Best Investment
"The best investment that you have ever made in your lives is not in the fertile acres of this or other communities, or in bonds or stocks, but in the educational facilities you have provided, which pays by far a greater dividend. A business man, at the close of the year, takes inventory or stock to ascertain how his business has carried on during the past 12 month period. You who are assembled here this evening are the stockholders in the greatest industry in the nation's life today, that industry being our American public school system, which is responsible for the nation's greatest asset, the boys and girls of the United States.

"You are entitled to an inventory at the close of the year's work to make an accounting. This industry in which you are the stockholders has enjoyed a 600 per cent increase during the past 20 years. It might be of interest to you to know that 65 per cent of the boys and girls of these United States are enrolled in high schools between the ages of 14 and 18, the largest in the world. Great Britain comes second with 40 per cent and Germany is third. This great flocking of boys and girls into our educational institutions during the past 20 years has brought us two of the greatest problems confronting us today, the first being, what is the best thing to do with the boys and girls in these institutions? This question has not been solved although it has been seriously considered by some of education's most able minds.

Financial Problem
"Where are we going to get the money to continue the operation of these institutions of learning? This is the second great question confronting you stockholders.

"This great flocking of the youth of our nation into the public schools high schools and colleges has brought a noticeable change. Industry no longer has a place for those children of school age as it had a few years ago. Now it is either the school or the streets for these children and we face a financial question of what are we going to do with them, and then we are confronted with that oft repeated criticism of the tremendous expense in taxation, which I have, after careful thought and consideration, summed up into four divisions:

First, it pays to educate because education creates wants, it elevates the standards of living and creates a customer for business. Education has replaced the tooth and claw of our ancestors, the breech cloth, the hut, the tent, the cave with the accompanying bonfire. Education has a close relationship to business and our present day industrial superiority is due to our high standard of education.

Second, education pays, because it not only creates wants but prepares the individual to supply his wants.

Favorable Environment
Third, education creates environment which is favorable to business and without which business could not exist; it creates within us an ability to live together peacefully and harmoniously with social stability and national solidarity.

Fourth, Education develops and trains the leaders needed by business and society today. Business demands trained experts and they must go to the colleges to acquire them. If ever the world needed trained leaders it is today and it is our duty to support the schools and prepare this material.

There are three modern institutions in our present day society: home, church and school. All three of these must function properly to insure the kind of leadership we need and that the entire world is in need of.

The speaker highly commended the community of Steward for its fine high school and educational facilities and congratulated the class of graduates as he closed his interesting talk.

Prof. J. M. Thompson expressed his appreciation to the directors and patrons of the school and congratulated the graduating class on the fine spirit of cooperation and their habits of industry displayed during the term, and assured the graduates that their connection with the school was not closed upon receipt of the diplomas, but that the school stood ready at all times to assist in any way any of its alumni. He then presented the diplomas to the 1936 graduating class which was composed of 11 boys and 2 girls as follows:

THE BRONTOSAURUS grew to a length of 60 feet and attained a weight of 30 tons. The estimate of the amount of food required to nourish this huge body and keep it moving is made by comparison with the size and food requirements of present-day elephants. The bulk of its food was made up of water plants.

GOOD THOUGHTS

Think truly, and thy thoughts shall the world's famine feed; Speak truly, and each word of thine

Shall be a fruitful seed; Live truly, and thy life shall be A great and noble deed.

Horatius Bonar

Go, make thy garden fair as thou canst.

Thou wilt never be alone.

Perchance, he whose plot is next to thine

Will see it, and mend his own.

Robert Collier

The serene, silent beauty of a holy life is the most powerful influence in the world next to the might of God.

Pascal

It is strikingly apparent that honest, pure, temperate, good living is more and more proving to be happy, healthy, progressive living. Therefore a great means of helpfulness lies in exemplification—the example which a pure, consecrated life holds out to another. Individual progress aids universal progress, and individual salvation assuredly helps to bring about universal salvation. When God becomes exalted in our own individual consciousness, the belief in materiality is in some measure lessened throughout the whole earth. The redeeming of our own consciousness from erroneous qualities is the first and foremost work if we would be true helpers.

BEHIND THE SCENES

GAIL EVERETT, winner of a prize for costume design offered by a large silk manufacturing company, comes to New York to find work. She is hired—due to a stroke of luck—by MADAME LIZETTE, proprietor of an exclusive shop. Madame proves temperamental and difficult to work for.

DEREK HARGREAVES, young artist, is interested in Gail, and offers her friendly advice. Presumptuous Miss DICK SEARLES, whose sister, ROSEMARY, was her roommate at school.

Meanwhile, in Arizona, MARK CHAPMAN, long a wanderer, returns to find his old home in the hands of the Mrs. W. M. G. Mark suspects the deal is crooked. He does not know the whereabouts of his niece, Gail, rightful owner of the property.

REX HALL, Madame Lizette's son, is representing the Travers company. Gail spends the week-end at the Searles' home. Dick asks her to marry him and she refuses.

As the days pass Gail finds herself thinking more and more about Derek. He asks her to go to a reception at the home of the wealthy Mrs. MORTON.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XV "SO you thought I'd forgotten you?" Derek said, handing Gail into the waiting cab.

"Well, that would be easy, wouldn't it?" she countered lightly.

"Think so?" Blue eyes held hers while he caught her hand in his.

Gail flashed him a swift glance. Derek really meant it! "Maybe I missed you a little bit too," she said. "Didn't you promise to show the little country girl around the big town?"

"And so I will. Tonight I'm going to introduce you to Mrs. Morton and a lot of worthwhile people."

"But if this is an invitation affair, Derek, it's no place for me! I'd never be a piker!"

"Of course not, Honey. I've a special invitation for you."

He drew out a folded sheet and read: "I didn't send you a formal invitation because I had planned to ask you to come to dinner before this. Then it occurred to me that there might be people you'd like to meet at the reception, and it would be a pity for you to miss them when you're anxious to do more portraits. Won't you bring that girl who was with you at Ivan's the other evening? I'd like to know her. Tell her she needn't be afraid of me!"

"Oh, Derek, what can she think of me?"

"Think of you, dearest? She'll love you! Yes—even though she looks rather hard-boiled she has

Path of New Assault on Everest

In man's fifth attempt to reach the "roof of the world," a group of daring young Britons are struggling along the route depicted above toward the untrod summit of the Himalayan Mount Everest, world's highest peak. sin dairymen and business men were studied thoroughly by the bus tourists who saw clearly the possibilities of their home section if similar methods and practices are followed.

The trip was an outgrowth of the evening dairy school conducted the past winter under the supervision of D. C. Holt, instructor of agriculture at Amboy Township high school. Holt was assisted in making arrangements for the trip by J. J. Cole, field man of the Amboy Milk Products company and Chauncey Robbins. During the first day the Janesway Manufacturing Company was visited at Port Atkinson, Wisconsin. The group was taken on a tour of the Jefferson county farm, Hoard's farm and the Hoard's Dairyman printing plant. In the afternoon the party motored to Oconomowoc and visited the Cortine dairy and the Osterhus farm, formerly owned by the Carnation Milk Company.

Monday night was spent in hotels at Oconomowoc and rain greeted the tourists as they started for the Fred Pabst farm Tuesday morning. A tour of the Pabst herd, stable of fancy horses and cheese factory was followed by the trip to Waukesha.

The Willard Evans herd of Brown Swiss was visited near Waukesha and the party enjoyed dinner at the Avalon Hotel in that city. Prominent men in the Waukesha county Guernsey association and milk marketing organization spoke briefly following the dinner and the buses proceeded to the Frank Fox farm and dairy, one of the most outstanding of its kind in Wisconsin.

The inspection ended there and the group began the journey home, arriving in the early evening.
